1948 CRYSTAL BALL

Part II
Third-Party Chances

One of the questions much discussed in political circles is the likelihood of a Third Party being formed to run in next year's Presidential campaign.
Wallace will start such a party, backed by the radical organized labor.
The other had Congress over-ridden the Truman veto of the third party, and observers and "thinkers" were busy speculating whether these developments had helped or hampered the efforts to get a third party lined up.
Actually, 90 per cent of the third-party talk, in the mouths of such men as Wallace, is "position playing."
They can see some advantage in scaring President Truman, or someone else, with the threat. Advantages from actually putting a third party in the field are not so easy to find.
Third parties in the United States, for the last century, have fared ill much more often than they have succeeded.
Sometimes it is argued that the Republican Party, formed just before the Civil War, was a "third" party. This is an interesting theory; if it were accepted, then it might be held that a third party, formed to meet the next problems of times of great social stress (such as the present) would have bright prospects of long and illustrious service to the country (which the Republican Party enjoyed).
But the theory is all defect. It simply isn't true.
The Republican Party was a mere splitting away of a wing from one of two major parties. In one sense, the party was wholly new; at any rate, the Republican party was the "fourth," or the "fifth," or the "sixth"—depending on just how you want to count them. The two-party system had broken down years before. There had been only the "Democrats" and the "Whigs."
In 1856, by the expiration of a "Northern" Democrat (Buchanan of Penn.) the Democratic Party held its various factions in line. The three parties in that contest, however, with sufficient strength to win some of the delegates—the Democratic, the Republican and American Parties.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEAINED BY SCRIBES

Records from a minute book of the Sixth District of the Bucks County Sabbath School Association reveal that the district association was formed 54 years ago, August 12, 1893, to be exact.
A committee appointed previously by the county association included William H. Slotter and G. W. Rubinkam, who were responsible to a large degree in forming the district association.
Temporary officers were elected as follows: President, John L. Du-Bois; vice presidents: Rev. T. C.
Davis and G. W. Rubinkam; secretary, G. G. Nash; treasurer, Mrs.
Nellie McIntosh; and executive committee, Miss Mary H. Walter, Miss Lizzie Kramer, Ezra P. Carrell, Jr., Mrs. Howard Meredith, Mrs. I. K.
Clymer and Miss Laura Fries.
Sunday schools represented at the organization meeting were from New Britain, Doylestown, Warrington and Warwick.
Newtown the past week was the scene of a number of minor thefts perpetrated. It is believed, by a person or persons who were acquainted with the surroundings. Small sums of money were taken from Newtown Presbyterian Church, the library and the motion picture theatre.
All the buildings were entered by jimmying side windows. The church was entered from a window on the east side. Here, a small

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

President Truman signed the modified rent control bill yesterday as the "lesser of two evils." Had he not signed, he said in a message, all control would expire and "millions of Americans would face wholesale evictions." Mr. Truman called the measure a "most unsatisfactory law," demanded an investigation of the real estate lobby and called on Governors to protect tenants in their states.
Congress had enacted only one of twelve major appropriation bills when the fiscal year ended at midnight. The Senate, however, completed action on extending the life of the State Department's foreign information service. The Senate killed the President's reorganization plan returning the employment services to the Labor Department, and the House passed, 196 to 133, the bill to make Hawaii the 49th state of the Union.
The Government returned to the operators the 2,500 soft-coal mines seized 13 months ago. In the absence of a contract with the union, their future was uncertain.
Harold E. Stassen authorized the entry of his name in the Wisconsin Republican presidential primary.
A severe earth shock was followed by the collapse of a levee near St. Louis. Flood waters of the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers have caused $300,000,000 in damages.
Foreign Minister Molotov rejected with such seeming finality the basic principle of the Marshall plan—a common effort by European nations to help themselves before calling for United States aid—that the Paris conference is expected to break up today. Britain and France were said to be ready to proceed without Russia, and Foreign Secretary Bevin circulated the British proposal for a four-year plan.
Former UNRRA Director-General Lehman endorsed the Marshall plan, saying that he had found exportable surpluses in nearly every country that had been aided. Pope Pius XII also indicated support of the Marshall proposal.
Premier Ramadier proposed a new "national salvation" cabinet, recalling Leon Blum as Minister of State, as the last chance to save France from inflation. The French thwarted a Royalist plot to overthrow the republic and establish a military dictatorship. Several leaders were arrested.
British troops in Palestine not on active duty were ordered confined to their barracks because of increased sniping by terrorists.
Eighteen nations agreed in Geneva to a plan for a four-year plan.

Co-operation Called For

Washington, July 1.
ONE rather basic trouble with this country, inseparable from our political system, is the difficulty in arousing public sentiment on matters or measures concerning which there really is but one side. On controversial issues sentiment is stirred through the techniques of the organized special interest groups and parties. But on non-controversial issues, as on the

ELECTORATE TO VOTE ON FLOATING OF LOAN

Hulmeville Council Further Details for Acceptance of Three Streets

TO RENUMBER HOUSES

HULMEVILLE, July 1.—Hulme-ville borough council last evening set in motion activity which they hope will lead to the floating of a $25,000 bond issue to care for acceptance and building of three streets within the borough limits.
Council at the July session, which had been advanced one week, passed a motion to place before the electorate, possibly in September, the question of floating such a loan.
The exact cost of building the streets, Ford, Rectz and Lincoln, which the borough plans to accept, is not definitely determined. Last evening engineer Robert May offered suggestions for types of construction, what possible cost would be, etc. Council is considering having the streets macadamized.
Borough solicitor Lawrence Monroe was in attendance. He stated he is in the process of securing necessary releases from property owners, and will complete this work soon.

Inside Your Congress

Truman Versus The Democratic Party

—BY—
SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

Each House of Congress voted three times on the Labor Bill, i. e., original passage, conference report, and veto. This makes six record votes in all. In only one of the six did Mr. Truman have a majority of Democrats on his side.
In the House, the Democrats supported the bill 93 to 84; again 103 to 86, and once more, to override the veto, 106 to 71. This last was the severest repudiation of all.
In the Senate, the votes were 21 to 21 (even), 17 to 15 (a majority against Mr. Truman), and on the veto, 20 to 22 (a majority of 2 for Truman).

TWO FROM HOLLAND MEET THRU COURIER

Bride Living in Hulmeville and Bride-Elect Here Are Happy Over Meeting

FROM SAME COUNTY

HULMEVILLE, July 1.—Through the medium of The Bristol Courier, two young women who recently came from Holland, one a bride, the other a bride-elect, have met and thrilled to hear from the lips of each other their native tongue.
The two who had never heard of each other, and who are now residing only five miles apart, learned that their homes in the land of the windmills are closer to each other than that.

The new-found friends are the former Miss Pieta Bockma, wife of Benny Ronciglione, of Main street, Hulmeville, and Miss Elsa Deutsch, now residing on Dorrance street, Bristol, who will be wed the latter part of July to Frank Conti, Bristol.
A social item appearing in Friday's issue of The Bristol Courier told of a gift shower tendered Miss Deutsch last week. Noting that the young woman honored had just arrived from Holland, Miss Erda M.
Schatt, a neighbor of Mrs. Ronciglione, one, showed the account to the latter, a bride of six months. Joyous to learn that a young woman from her native land was living so near, Mrs. Ronciglione lost no time in going to Bristol. And for three hours she and Miss Deutsch spoke in their native language of Holland and the places they knew. Both are from the county of Limburg, Miss Deutsch coming from Nieuwen-bagen and Mrs. Ronciglione from Heerlen. "The towns are only 20 minutes bicycle ride apart," commented the localite. "And Elsa has invited me to her wedding," exclaimed the happy Pieta.
The Roncigliones first met in Holland when Benny's outfit was encamped at the rear of the Bockma

Wanted—Water for Pool

(By "The Stroller")
"Do you deliver water?"
That was the question put to Bristol Consolidated firemen the other day over the telephone.
"Deliver water?"
That was the question asked right back again.
"Yes, we have a small pool," was the reply made by the party on the end of the wire, who stated that she resided in a nearby community to Bristol and that she had been informed that the firemen would deliver water to fill the pool.
"No, we don't deliver water but perhaps if you call Edgely firemen maybe they will," was the information given.
It is assumed that what the lady had in mind was to have a fire company deliver water in a tank wagon with which many rural fire companies are now equipped.

Signs Tax Base Broadening Legislation

Harrisburg—Gov. James H. Duff today signed legislation to broaden the tax base for most local governments. The measure, described by Duff as the "highlighting" achievement of the General Assembly during the 1947 session, gave virtually unlimited revenue sources to all cities except Philadelphia, boroughs, first class townships and all school districts except Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Evacuate Thousands from St. Louis Area

St. Louis—Coast Guardsmen began the evacuation of 5,000 to 10,000 flood waters rushed over the top of the Prairie Dupont levee which protects a 69,000 acre area on the Illinois side.

Duff Signs 2 Phases of Industrial Peace Program

Harrisburg—Gov. James H. Duff today signed into law two phases of his industrial peace program to ban utility strikes and lockouts and outlaw picketing of struck plants by non-employees.
The anti-utility measure, applying to gas, water, electric and steam heat services, was designed to protect the public by forestalling service teups similar to that which paralyzed last year.

Here lie the remains of a driver who thought he could drink and still drive a car. Racing down the highway at a dangerous speed, his car wandered off the edge of the pavement, dragged on the sandy shoulder, and was wrenched into a spin. Drunken drivers are potential murderers of every other motorist who comes near them on the road.
They were involved in more than 5,000 fatal accidents last year.
National Conservation Bureau safety specialists say even one or two drinks slow up reactions, make judgment unsure, increase chances of accident three to four times.

A NATIONAL HIGHWAY SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Through the combined efforts of thousands of daily and weekly newspapers throughout the United States, a National Highway Safety Program has been launched throughout the nation.
Because of its purpose alone, the campaign is one of the most praiseworthy and beneficial public services in recent years.

Any effort to reduce or eliminate the tragic toll of traffic accidents which annually account for thousands of needless deaths is worthy of wholehearted support.

Last year 33,500 persons were accidentally killed on our streets and highways. The staggering total of 1,150,000 were injured and an economic loss of over two billion dollars resulted.

What makes those lost lives, the pain and suffering, and the economic loss more tragic is the realization that, with proper care and precaution, they could have been avoided.

Now, as a result of the President's Highway Safety Conference last year and the second meeting of the Conference last week, an intensive effort is being made to prevent traffic accidents in the future. Much has already been accomplished in the way of traffic enforcement and engineering. The National Highway Safety Program is the newspapers' contribution to the educational phase of accident prevention.

But it has been significantly pointed out by Mag. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, general chairman of the President's Highway Safety Conference, that brief, spasmodic campaigns will not bring lasting results. There is need for intensive effort on the part of every man, woman and child.

"Each one of us, as driver or pedestrian," says General Fleming, "must accept in good faith our own individual responsibility.
Each man, woman and child must accept in his own conscience, as before the law, the responsibility for the consequences of his own acts."

That can mean only one thing.
We must all, by our own individual efforts, strive constantly for the improvement of the public attitude toward safety. The result will be the sparing of our own lives or those of the ones near and dear to us.

WARNING

Complaints that grocery stores now are selling patent medicines were heard by druggists at a convention in Colorado Springs.
Their business is being threatened in other quarters, too. Hardware stores are selling screwdriv-ers, sporting goods stores tennis rackets, tobacco shops cigarettes and clothing stores raincoats.

But unless restaurants begin serving meals, the druggists need not become too concerned, especially since it seems certain that the post office will not be able to encroach seriously on the postage stamp business.

According to Farley, the "My Friends" salutation was all-inclusive only when it was released over the air waves.

1948 Crystal Ball

In 1860, when Lincoln was elected as the first Republican, there were four parties which wound up sharing the electoral vote—the Republican, Democratic, Constitutional Union and Independent Democratic.

The appeal of the Republican Party, and the issue which founded it, lay in the slavery question. The Republican Party took a firm stand, not so much merely against slavery, as against secession. Flocking to it came a horde of lesser parties and factions which molded themselves into cohesive whole.

At no other time in the past century, has anything resembling a third party succeeded. Most of the third-party movements have started, as the present suggestions start, from a split in the party in power. The quarrels over the third-term bid of President Grant are possibly the beginning of a division in the Republican ranks which haunted it for years before it broke into the Bull-Moose movement in 1912—and changed the course of history by restoring the Democratic Party to power under Woodrow Wilson.

The uncertainties of third-party politics—and indeed, much of the other political uncertainties in the U. S. today—grow out of the fact that we do not really have two parties so much as we have four. Each of the major parties, the Republican and the Democratic, has divided into two wings.

On the Republican side, partly because the party has been "on the outside" of national affairs so long, and partly for other reasons, the division is not a critical matter. True, there are enough "dissenters" in the Republican Senatorial majority to wipe out the party's working majority there. Three Republican Senators, for example, voted to uphold President Truman's veto of the Labor Bill after he had sought to make it a straight party issue.

The really bad split is in the Democratic Party, which has its conservative or "Southern" Democrats, and its Left-Wing or Northern branch, closely affiliated with the labor radicals and apparently completely under their thumb.

What makes this division of both parties difficult to evaluate, in the terms of a third-party's prospects, is not the affinity of the radical Republicans and radical Democrats, but the fact that in both the major parties, it is the conservative wing which is much the strongest.

For example, the Republicans lost only three Senatorial votes out of 51 on the Labor-Veto roll-call; and in the Democratic party, the combined House-and-Senate vote for the over-riding of the veto was considerably larger than the vote to sustain it.

Congressional history of the past four or five years has largely been written in the terms of the skill and ability of the anti-New Deal wings of the Republican and Democratic Parties to combine forces against the pressure of the New Dealers, the President, and the White House lobby.

All this boils down to two propositions, either of which makes the prospects of a Third Party next year extremely remote—if the decision is to be made on logic and not mere vindictiveness:

First, the radical vote in the United States is an extremely small minority. The total number of "insurgents" really is probably about as small as ever in our history. It is merely because they are so well organized, and because they have had so much encouragement at the White House, that they seem numerous.

A Presidential candidate who was able to muster all the pro-radical voters from both parties still would be licked hands down by a reasonable outpouring of the non-radical vote in either of the two major parties.

The other proposition is that, as a matter of sheer logic, the coalition which would seem to be in order, and which would produce an overwhelming majority of the total vote, would appear to be between the conservative Democrats and the conservative Republicans—exactly the same coalition which has taken place repeatedly in Congress.

Now, of course, this isn't likely to happen. There is no reason for it to happen. Despite the fact that, by contrast with pro-Communist radicals, the old-line Republicans and Democrats seem very like, actually they have sufficient differences to warrant both continuing as political parties. They are alike in wanting to save the American system; unlike on how best to operate the country within its framework.

What a third party movement would do, of course, would be to smash all chances which President Truman has of re-election.

It would rob the Republican party, perhaps, of a handful of votes; but it would break the Democratic Party right down the middle. This is especially true because Truman himself is not "right of center," but "left" of it. In most ways, he is just about as radical as Wallace himself. They differ mainly on whether Russia should be kissed or kicked. Both are "spenders," both are "planners," both are essentially socialistic in their approach to governmental problems, both want big and powerful Federal government under the Chief Executive, both think that Congress is a nuisance which ought to be hog-tied if not eliminated.

The Democratic Party, which has swung (so far as sentiment is concerned, but not party control) more and more to the right, would wind up in the strange position of having two extremely radical candidates in the race.

That's the sort of situation which sends voters fishing, or playing pinochle, instead of to the polls.

The United States proposed in the United Nations Security Council that the international police force be composed of 3,500 combat planes, 20 Army divisions and a large naval force including three battleships and six carriers. Britain, France and China suggested smaller forces, but Russia refused to consider the matter now.

Four Communist columns were attacked near Paoing, North China, as the main Nationalist relief armies approached Szepeingkat in Manchuria. The Kuomintang moved to fight the Communists as "rebels."

controversial issues there is no mechanism for doing this.

THAT is the reason for the frequent failure, through inertia, of concededly meritorious proposals. The people are just not interested enough to care. This is partly why economy is so hard to achieve while waste is practically effortless. At this time the two most important bills that remain to be dealt with by this Congress are those pertaining to universal military training and Army-Navy unification. There is extraordinarily little dispute about the merits of these proposals. Most informed persons are strongly for them. They are non-political, and not much of a fight will be made against them.

NEVERTHELESS, there will be considerable debate and tiresome hearings in both House and Senate, at which ground that has been thoroughly covered time and again will be gone over. Both bills ought to pass. The Army-Navy merger, at the moment, has a better chance than the universal military training proposal. However, the sponsors of both are worried because of the lack of public sentiment. This would not make so much difference if there were more time. But adjournment is less than five weeks off and the danger is that one or both proposals will be caught in the inevitable last-minute legislative crush and allowed once more to die on the vine.

IF there were a way to dramatize these bills or to stage a really re-verberating debate, there would be less concern. As things are, they have strong official support but no vibrant public sentiment behind them. The danger is that with a day fixed for adjournment a jam easily could develop in which they will be sacrificed to the personal pressure behind far less important measures. This would be very unfortunate.

UNDER such circumstances it would seem sensible, logical and inevitable for the Democratic and Republican leaders to confer and co-operate in thrusting aside obstacles to their speedy passage. It is sensible and logical but, unhappily, not inevitable. As the session has progressed the partisan bitterness so conspicuously absent at the beginning has made its appearance. There is less and less disposition to confer and co-operate among the leaders on both sides. This is natural enough. The Democrats have become irritated over the partisan refusal of the Republicans, for purely partisan reasons, to confirm first-class Truman appointments—such, for example, as that of Mr. Philip B. Perlman for solicitor general—to which custom has given the President the right. And by other things.

ON the other hand, the Republicans deeply resent the character of Administration resistance to their economy program and the somewhat violent presidential vetoes of the labor and tax bills. Nor have the bitter exchanges between President Truman and Senator Taft improved the prospect for co-operation on nonpartisan matters. In brief, the whole idea, promulgated by both sides last January, that the Democratic President and the Republican Congress would co-operate on all nonpolitical measures clearly in the national interest seems shot to pieces on everything save foreign affairs. This is why there is uncertainty about the passage of these measures, which the leaders in both parties favor in principle, which certainly are nonpolitical and the national need for which few dispute.

WHAT ought to exist, of course, is a militant public sentiment that would compel co-operation upon the part of the leaders. But there is no such public sentiment. Actually, there is neither full public understanding nor genuine interest. How to get these things is a problem for which no leader has an answer. The bills should go through despite their absence and it looks now as though they might. But the danger is there—particularly for the universal military training proposal—and it ought not to be ignored.

All told, on the six different votes in the two Houses there were 360 Democratic votes for the bill, and only 279 against it.

The three votes in the House in which Mr. Truman's policy was repudiated by a majority of his own party were the more significant because every member must face the voters next year. Of the Senate, two-thirds will not feel the hot breath of the people on their necks until 1950 or 1952.

The President is the titular leader of his party, and we believe in party government. If a President vetoes bills passed by the opposition but opposed by his own party, he can count on his party's future support. But in this case, Mr. Truman, like a small-sized Ajax defying the lightning, has chosen to repudiate legislation approved by a majority of his own party and to brand them as incompetent legislators.

As a matter of party politics, this veto seems the most fool thing any President ever did. In every Congressional district and state where these Democrats reside, Mr. Truman has "sicked" the labor bloodhounds on their trails on the hottest issue in years. If he runs for re-election next year—unless he can bring about their previous defeat in the primaries—he must run on the ticket with these same Democratic Congressmen and Senators whom he forbids to legislate. "Veto" means "I forbid."

Will the 1948 Democratic party platform call for repeal of this bill? If Truman is the candidate, must he not demand repeal to justify his veto? But where does this leave his party associates? What cooperation will he get from these men in his own race for re-election? If they praise him, they must grovel to do so. Presidents seldom win without the wholehearted support of the "regulars." William proved that. Will the labor bosses tell their men to vote for Truman and also for the Democratic Congressmen whom they now say they will defeat at any cost?

Not only in the fall elections, but in the primaries next year, Truman will be quoted to defeat the Democratic Congressmen and Senators who voted to override him. Here is some of the extravagant language Mr. Truman used: "They took all rights under the (Wagner) Act," "left with no option but the use of force," "turn in despair from peaceful procedures to economic force," "rejects entirely the informed wisdom of those experienced in labor relations," "such a union would have to win all its objectives by strike, rather than by orderly procedures," etc., etc.

Ill-considered words like these will plague not only his fellow-Democrats but the country. They give moral support to strikes and lawlessness. They amount almost to an invitation to anarchy. They tie the President's hands in dealing with the national calamity of another coal strike.

Yet the man who thus condemned the Congress of the United States, proposed only a year ago to draft railroad men into the army in peacetime and subject them to martial law! The author of the only "slave labor" bill since the Civil War vetoes a bill which has the support of millions of rank-and-file workers!

amount of Sunday school funds and a communion tray were taken. These had been locked in a closet, which was forced by the thief or thieves.

The library, it has been learned, was entered between Saturday and Tuesday. More than $12 was taken from a box containing the library fees.

The theatre was entered by a side window, and here $30 in change, left in the cash drawer by the ticket seller, was stolen after taking the money, the thief or thieves left by the front door of the theatre.

All of the thefts were reported to Officer Bateman, who is conducting an investigation.

The scheduled hearing in the Milford township "shooting case" involving a Philadelphia chemist and a Philadelphia farmer during a jealousy quarrel, was postponed because the victim of the shooting had to return to the hospital for further treatment.

The accused defendant, Douglas Malley, 28 — the chemist — was ready for the hearing. He was taken to the office of Justice of the Peace Horace Koder, Quakertown, on Thursday by Corporal Chester Reitz of the Quakertown sub-station of State Police.

Upon arrival at the Justice's office, it was learned that the farmer whom he shot with a 12-gauge shotgun—Edward Ebbert, 39—had to return to the Quakertown Community Hospital for treatment for an infection that set in where Malley had shot him in the shoulder.

Ebbert will not be able to get out of the hospital for at least a few more days, the authorities were informed. The hearing may be postponed for another two weeks because of the fact that officers who were assigned to the case, will be away on vacation leaves at that time.

Malley was returned to the Bucks County Prison, where he is being held in default of $5,000 bail.

The shooting occurred June 20th in the Malley home in Richland township where Malley awaited the return of his wife and the neighboring farmer.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

FOR some time there has been a growing belief that potatoes are fattening and, therefore, should be avoided by waist-line conscious people. Actually, there is little basis in fact for such a belief, according to representatives of potato growing groups who insist that it is not the potato but the company it keeps which is fattening. They cite, according to the A & P Service for Home-Makers, as the cause for the added girth the generous serving of butter or the spoons of gravy put on the potato.

With the advent of warm weather and the sizeable crop of potatoes on hand housewives should be able to use this food in dishes that should have a wide appeal to the family. Potato salad should be popular now that mayonnaise has returned in large volume to store shelves. Potato chips are another form in which potatoes can be served with a minimum of effort so far as preparation is concerned.

Potato chips have been increasing in popularity in recent years but they still do not seem to have the favor they deserve. They need not necessarily be eaten cold but can be used on the top of a casserole, mixed in with a salad, especially if a French dressing is used, or as the base of an appetizer on which a cheese, meat or any other favorite spread is placed.

Potato salad, of course, has long been a standby but even that has fallen into a little disfavor because of the fattening notion. A little less liberal use of dressing might be one way of getting away from this notion although there is also the possibility of using less generous portions of potatoes and a greater amount of greens as a substitute.

For Sunday dinner try vegetable soup, cold sliced chicken, either a tossed green salad and potato chips, or potato salad, sherbert and a beverage.

MEXICAN STOCK

MEXICO CITY, Mex. (INS)—Mexican work stock may be less picturesque and more stubborn after the hoof and mouth disease has been eradicated. Mules purchased in the U. S. are replacing work oxen which have been used to plant and tend Mexican crops. Mules are immune to hoof and mouth disease but oxen are susceptible.

'Hearing' Earring

MORE than an ornamental adornment is the earring shown being modeled above. It's designed for women who have difficulty in hearing. Hidden behind the bit of jewelry is a tiny receiver, which acts as a sound aid. (International)

Burgess Schmidt Urges Careful Driving

tragedy and suffering brought by accidents.

"Let each one of us dedicate himself to making this Fourth of July a safe and sane day of festivity."

That call is to you personally to co-operate as a citizen of the United States in helping reduce highway accidents. It is a shameful record ## when in one year 33,500 lives are sacrificed, 1,150,000 persons are injured and $750,000,000 in property destroyed, resulting in an economic cost to the nation of $2,000,000,000 because of careless, reckless driving.

It is a national problem, but essentially the solution is in your hands. Drive safely—live and let live!

Ninety-one killed—3,150 injured! If that were the report of an explosion, wreck or other disaster, it would be front page news. People would be horrified! But worse—it's just one day's automobile casualty list in the United States. It happens every day, week in, week out. Four deaths, 131 injured—every hour. At year's end 33,500 lives snuffed out, over a million injured or maimed for life. That's what happened last year. This year's record threatens to be even higher.

Speed—reckless, wanton speed—drunken driving—defiance of safety rules and regulations—and careless, jaywalking pedestrians, top the list of causes for this grim toll.

What can you do about it? Will the speeding wheels of your car add one death to this mass murder of the highways? Not if you, the driver and you, the pedestrian—take your individual responsibilities seriously. Drive carefully at all times, under all conditions, and be alert when walking.

FAILURE TO HOLD A 3-RUN LEAD BY VOLTZ LOSES GAME

St. Ann's Scores Victory Over the Gasmen By Score of 6 to 4

CLARK ON THE MOUND

Barbetta Leads Batters With Three Hits in Four Times Up

Failing to hold a three-run lead, the Voltz-Texaco team bowed to St. Ann's A. A. last evening in the battle of the division-leaders on the Maple Beach field. Final score was: St. Ann's, 6; Voltz-Texaco, 4.

St. Ann's tied the score in the sixth by scoring three runs on hits by Clafella, Barbetta, Massi, and Clark and a walk to Sallustio plus an error by Linck. In the seventh, two more runs scored and these won the game. The runs were made on hits by Clafella, Barbetta, and Taggart with the aid of Linck's second error.

"Kenny" Clark did the hill work for the "Saints" with "Herm" Pluma being charged with the gasmen's defeat. "Mike" Deitch relieved Pluma in the seventh and fanned three of the four batters he faced in the seventh and eighth innings. "Bert" Barbetta led the batters of the game with three hits in four trips to the plate.

Rothenback had a home run, triple, and single in three official trips to the plate. He drove in two runs and scored three to make himself personally responsible for five of the six tallies.

NEWTOWN WINS OVER JR. LEGION BY SCORE OF 2 TO 1

Both Hurlers Credited With Pitching Fine Ball

JONES ALLOWS 4 HITS

Newtown Scores After Jones Fans First Four Batters

NEWTOWN, July 1. — Scoring two runs in the initial frame, the Newtown Junior Legion nosed out the Bristol Junior Legion, 2-1, last evening in a well-played Bucks County Legion League game.

Both hurlers, "Chapple" Gordon, of Newtown, and "Lenny" Jones, of Bristol, pitched fine ball. Gordon was touched for six hits while Jones allowed the winners but four hits. Jones had ten strikeouts and his control was so well he did not issue a pass.

The Newtown boys scored their tallies after Jones fanned the first two batters to face him. Finney got a lift on Pindar's error. Carr singled to left and the runners advanced on Murphy's error. Milnor scored both runners with a single to center. Jones then struck out Titus for the third strikeout of the frame.

Bristol's marker came in the second frame. Killian beat out a hit. MacSherry sacrificed. Pindar socked a triple to right and Killian crossed.

The Bristol team received bad breaks in the third and fifth innings. In the third, with Morrell on second, Mama slammed a hard bouncer behind second and third but the ball struck Morrell and the runner was out. In the fifth, Morrell was on first when Mama hit a long one to left field. Morrell was called out at the plate on a close play.
